TROUBLED BY facial pigmentation caused by sun exposure or hormones? Increased melanin production is common in Australia. Topical treatments focusing on a combination of inhibiting tyrosinase (an enzyme controlling melanin production), exfoliation and bleaching offer the best solution for pigmented skin. Rejuvi's skin whitening treatment combines a lightening treatment, a fruit complex and a whitening formula to effectively combat pigmentation problems by brightening the skin and minimising dark under-eye circles. One lucky Style reader has the chance to win a Rejuvi skin whitening facial treatment plus products to use at home — a complete care package valued at $500. Visit www.stylemagazines.com.au to enter.
